

- Go to python.org/downloads/ to download the most current version of Python

- Once downloaded, double-click the package to begin installing on your device. Follow the steps until the installation is complete.

- After the installation, open the Python folder.
- IDLE shell should be present: A text editor to write Python code in an interactive environment.

- On Mac OS, you can open a Terminal window as well to write and perform Python code as an alternative.